

Green-Dri Customer Site Visits in Japan

March 2009

Green-Dri (called Bio-Green in Japan) user conference was conducted by Mr. Ito, the inventor of Green-Dri and the founder/CEO of Nippon Funen Mokuzai Company in Tokyo. Officials from four customers and other technical advisors attended the conference including representatives from US (Greenstone) and Europe.

Visit to a customer in Tokyo. They have a medium size kiln

Side view of the kiln.
The doors open towards front.

We visited with the conference attendees.

Visited another customer in North Eastern Japan (about 1 hour and a half by train from Tokyo). They have one medium size and one large (10 meter long) kilns

The large one (on the right) has sliding panel doors which slides out to the grey metal guide which will direct each panel to a fan shaped holding area opening up the entire side of this large kiln. Due to high real estate cost in Japan, special attentions are paid to space-saving ideas.